

Is your Statement of Values up to date?

Statement of Values you say? What is that?

It's a scary but true fact that most middle market companies have never taken the time to complete a thorough statement of values for their organization. What's scarier is that nearly every property insurance policy that is issued requires that a current statement of values is on file with the insurance company at all times. While completing a statement of values may be a bit cumbersome the first time, we have the resources to guide you through the process.

If you have never done this most important step in risk management and catastrophe planning, contact your Risk Manager at Republix today for a complimentary customized Statement of Values template for your company.
